

FEDERAL FINANCIAL AID AND NATIONAL SCHOLARSHIP WEBSITES:

<https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa>

This is the site for the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) where money for post-secondary education is offered in the form of loans, grants, and work-study.

<http://www.fastweb.com/>

One of the internet's largest free scholarship searches. You sign up and enter some basic information, and through that it finds numerous scholarships you are eligible for.

<http://www.finaid.org/>

This is a very popular website with comprehensive information about all aspects of financial aid, scholarships and other types of aid. It has calculators to help you determine college costs, savings growth projections, expected family contributions, loan payments and more.

<http://www.simpletuition.com/home>

Simple Tuition allows students, parents and school counselors to search for private and federal student loans and to learn more about the loan and financial aid process.

<https://www.salliemae.com/college-planning/>

Sallie Mae has information about scholarships, financial aid, and student loans.

<http://heab.state.wi.us/>

The website for the Wisconsin Higher Education Aids Board describing student aid programs available for Wisconsin residents. Information about reciprocity between Wisconsin and Minnesota is on this site as well.

<http://www.collegescholarships.org/>

Scholarship search engine